Registration To Be Held Oct. 7 From 6:30 to 9 p.m. For Fall Classes

MANY ATTEND FIRST SERVICE IN NEW CHURCH

The weather was ideal last Sunday for the first worship service in the new Mokena Methodist church. The new sanctuary was filled with grateful worshippers who were more than happy over finally having a new place of worship. The service was held at 10:30 a.m. and was conducted by the Rev. Dale Kleinschmidt. The choir sang "Bless This House" and closed the service with singing "The Lord's Prayer."

Preceding the sermon two children were baptized by the pastor Rev. Dale Kleinschmidt. They were Robert Loren Collins, three month old son of Mr. and Mrs. Loven Collins, and Deborah Lee Spiess, year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Spiess. Sponsors for the latter were Miss Donna Schenkel and William Alton.

In his sermon, Rev. Kleinschmidt chose for his topic, "This place, set aside in the midst of the world." He mentioned four values that the church should always exemplify, peace, judgement, service and love, as some of the reasons to be in the midst of the world.

The small group of men who have given of their time and labor, worked exceptionally hard over the week end so as to prepare the ground and building for this occasion. The many friends of the church are grateful to them and all others who have shouldered this burden.

Eurglar Gets Coins From Three Deuces

The burglar, who forced his way into the Three Deuces Tavern in New Lenox and removed the coin box with $33.40 from the cash register, was being sought by sheriff's deputies.

Nothing else in the establishment was disturbed, according to James McCure, the owner.

McCure thought that the vicious dog he leaves in the establishment frightened the burglar away, as currency in the register was left behind.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Timm handled the investigation.

SANDBURG H. S. DEDICATION IS SET FOR OCT. 10

Although the new Carl Sandburg high school opened in its new building Sept. 8 for class-work on date scheduled, the climax of many months planning and work by the school board and special committees comes at the dedicatory ceremony Oct. 10, 2:30 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Carl Sandburg, in whose honor the new Orland-Palos high school building has been named, will be the principal speaker. It is quite possible that Mr. Sandburg will favor his audience with some of his songs.

The school is located on a 40 acre site on LaGrange Road, S.W. of the intersection of the 40th and 31st Street, in the geographical center of the district. To the southwest the low-roofed building looks out upon rolling wooded acres of Cook County forest preserve bird sanctuary. Beautiful McGinnis Slough (Orland Lake) whose waters flow below a hill, seems to be just outside the windows of the very spacious and well appointed library. Across LaGrange Road to the east is a relaxing view of trees, fairways and greens of the Southmoor Country Club.

The building, is functional in design, was planned by architects Ganster and Hennighausen. The Power construction company served as general contractors.

Over 500 students have registered for the various courses offered by the school under the supervision of Dr. Virgil Henry. The instruction work is shared by the 27 members of the faculty.

The dedication committees has been anticipating the many problems concerning the day of dedication. Officer Richard M. Massa, of the State Highway Police, is cooperating on plans which include safe parking for cars in ample space, and traffic control for the safety of guests. The high school band will entertain the guests by playing a number of popular compositions. Guides, with the help of well marked visitors routes, will conduct interested persons through the building during "Open House" after the dedication ceremony.

The high school board of education invites all the community and friends of Carl Sandburg to be present at this memorable event.

RALPH BRTVA INJURED IN FREAK ACCIDENT

A Green Garden farmer was seriously injured in an auto accident on route 45 Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Ralph Brtva who had been bailing hay was returning from the field with a half load of bales on the rack. Gilbert Sipple and Harold Ullrich were sitting on the hay bales, and Mr. Brtva was driving the tractor. There were two cars behind them. They were going south on route 45 and when they were one mile south of the intersection of the Monee-Manhattan road the first car behind them, driven by Mr. Burmaster of Manhattan, 72, tried to pass them, but seeing a tractor approaching, drew back into line again. In the car with Mr. Burmaster was 14-year-old son Dean. In a short time the way was clear and Mr. Burmaster started to pass them again, and in turning out into the other lane he turned too short and caught the left side of the hay rack. The impact was so severe that it caused the tractor hitch to unhook, and as it unhooked, the rack was crumpled back into the tractor, and the boys and the bales on the rack were thrown into the air. At the same time boards broke on the rack were shoved ahead into the tractor and caught Mr. Brtva, breaking his left leg in two places between the ankle and knee and cutting a deep gash.

Assistance was given by passing motorists and Mr. Brtva was removed to Silver Cross hospital where he entered surgery at once to set and repair the broken bones. The boys on the rack were shaken and suffered from shock.

Law on the Farm

Many articles have been and will be written about the new income tax law. It takes time to inform the taxpayer of all the changes that affect him.

One important change is more liberal personal deductions. To take advantage of this change, however, records must be kept as proof of the expense. Therefore do not wait until next April 15 to start - make up a file of receipts and expenses now. For those using farm account books, this file will supplement the farm business records.

The reason for taking a new look at record-keeping habits on personal items can best be shown by an example:

In 1953 Farmer Goodum had an adjusted gross income of $6,000.
 His medical expenses (not including medicines and drugs) were $350; local taxes (on non-business property), $150; contributions, $350; and carrying charges on a combine bought on the installment basis, $50. If Farmer Goodum had itemized his deductions instead of taking the standard deduction (ten percent), he could have deducted $50 of the medical expenses (the excess over five percent of adjusted gross income), his local taxes, and his contributions - but not the carrying charge on his combine.

If his income and expenses are the same for 1954 as for 1953, Goodum can deduct $170 of his medical expense (the excess over three percent of adjusted gross income), his local taxes, his contributions, and his carrying charge.

It would have been better for Goodum to take the standard deduction ($600) in 1953, but he would benefit by itemizing his expenses in 1954.

Because record-keeping is essential in reporting personal exemptions, Farmer Goodum would be wise to do the following:

1. Buy an index file with 4x6x8, inch divider cards. Make an alphabetical index for filing bills, receipts and notes on expenses paid out of pocket. This index might include the following kinds of personal expenses: Carrying charges, Casualty loss, Contributions, Doctor and hospital, Drugs and medicine, Gas tax, Interest, Property tax, License tax, Transportation.

2. Get a farm account book from the county farm adviser for keeping business records. Keep business bills and receipts in the same file, but separate them from the personal expenses.

3. Fill out check stubs in detail and keep canceled checks for at least three years.

The tax laws do not state specifically just what records must be kept, but they must be adequate to prove the deductions.

 Original bills and receipts for payments are the best proof.
 Making daily entries (notes) in the file will make it possible to keep track of small items.

A file of this kind not only will provide the proof needed for taking tax deductions, but will simplify the whole matter of making your income tax return.

BABSON SAYS—

Copyright, 1954, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

When a young couple gets married part of their joint savings - after buying a little good furniture - should go into life insurance - simple and inexpensive straight life insurance.
 After this a couple should start to build up credit and get the good will of some local bank.
 I would even advise renting a small safe-deposit box for keeping important papers, good jewelry, etc., and don't forget to make Wills.

If business and market conditions were different today, I would probably advise the purchase of a few shares of some good stock with one's savings; but I hate to do so with prices so high. Hence, today the best investment is a small bank account. Some later year you will be able to use this money to buy good stocks for much less than they are now selling. But, when you put the money in the bank, don't withdraw it until that time comes. Consider this bank account sacred - not to be disturbed for anything.

Another reason I want you to start a bank account, with regular deposits, is to help you get a reputation for thrift, honesty, and hard work. Make it a point to get acquainted with some high officer in the bank and say "Good morning" to him every time you go in so that he will know you and be able to give you or your partner a good reference whenever you need one.
 The interest which you get on a bank account is only one-half of the value which you get from the account. The other half is the acquaintance of bank officials. I tell my grand-children to put church attendance first and "bank attendance" next - although, of course, not for the same reason!

Although most stocks - yes, even good stocks - seem too high to me today, I think that local bank stocks are in a safe and profitable position. Since nearly all weak banks were eliminated in the Thirties, all banks are now being operated carefully.
 Most of them could be liquidated for more than their published assets, so that, as a stockholder, you would probably get more than you paid for the stock.
 More of my readers should own stock of the local bank where they have their account. In fact, perhaps one of the best investments for the young married couple would be five or ten shares of such stock.

If an investor is to put considerable money into bank stock, he should get the reports of two or three banks and carefully study them. Any bank - whether or not you are a customer - will gladly give you a copy of its Annual Report. In most states this must be published in the local paper, once a year. When my father died, I found a scrapbook in which he had pasted the published Annual Reports of all Gloucester banks, clipped from his valued Gloucester Daily Times.

Usually the bank with the largest deposits gets the most attention, but when bankers brag to me about their "large deposits," I jokingly reply, "You surely owe a lot of money!" For a bank's deposits are money which must be paid back to the people sometime. Therefore, when comparing bank statements subtract the deposits from the total assets and see what would be left for the stockholders.

The real value of bank stock depends very largely on the character, integrity, and energy of the men who operate the bank.
 Are they church goers? Do they let liquor alone? Do they live within their salaries? A successful banker is a combination of good character, good health, and good judgement.

Directors also should measure up to the above requirements.
 But too many bank directors accept the position as an honor rather than as a responsibility.
 Always ask how much money the directors of the bank are borrowing. This question, however, as well as the quality of the bank's assets, is under the constant supervision of the bank examiners. Hence, I forecast that when the next depression comes, bank stocks will stand up better than any other group of stocks.

Sewage Treatment

Sewer systems for removing human wastes are only a little more than a century old. The mighty sewers of Babylon, Nineveh and Rome were built to handle storm and underground drainage. Laws forbade the use of sewers for removing body wastes until 1815 in London; 1833 in Boston; 1880 in Paris.

Modern sewer systems began to develop and spread rapidly in the late 19th century. Body wastes and other unwanted materials from toilets, bathtubs, sinks and other outlets were carried by water through the plumbing system of a house or other building. These pipes led into larger pipes - street sewers, trunk sewers, etc. Finally the entire load flowed into the nearest river or other natural waterway.

These sewer systems solved one set of problems. Human wastes and other filth no longer collected to make pest-holes of our cities. But they caused a new set of problems; or, to put it another way, they moved the problems from one place to another. Now the waterways became the pest-holes. Sources of drinking water became polluted.
 Epidemics broke out. The health problem caused by wastes has been removed from sight - "driven underground." But, like many menaces, it became still more dangerous there.

A sewage treatment plant is the modern answer to these modern problems. The basic job of a sewage treatment plant is to remove body wastes and other polluting material from the water, which has carried them through the pipes and sewers of the city. Dirty sewage water is treated at the plant before being discharged into the natural waterway.

Building and operating a municipal sewage treatment plant is a big investment. Costs vary from place to place; they depend on the kind of treatment needed local materials and labor costs, and many other factors. But anywhere the total bill is likely to look very large at first glance.

Actually, however, studies show that sewage treatment in one state cost about five cents per family - the price of a coke or a candy bar. Those six and seven digit figures don't seem so big when they are cut down to family size.

Safety Council Sets Forth Rules For Hunting Season

The trigger fingers of all hunters have been itching in anticipation of the opening of the duck hunting season in October.
 This fall, according to past experience, those same twitching fingers will accidentally kill about 2,000 persons and will disable and maim thousands of others.

With these facts in mind, the Greater Chicago Safety Council urges every hunter to take all precautions for his own safety and that of others. Here are the ten commandments of nimrodic law put forth by the Council so that some, if not all, of the persons destined to be killed or injured may be saved if everyone cooperates by following the ordinary rules of common sense, according to the Council.

1. Handle every gun as if it were loaded.
2. Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.
3. Never leave your gun unattended unless you first unload it.
4. Carry your gun so that you can control the director of the muzzle if you slip.
5. Always make certain that the barrel and action are clear of obstruction - but be sure to look into the breech of the gun, not the muzzle.
6. Never point your gun at anything you do not want to shoot.
7. Avoid horseplay while holding a gun.
8. Never shoot at a flat hard surface, such as rocks or the surface of water.
9. Instruct your children in the proper use of firearms and explain the dangers of the weapons.
10. Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

Further commenting on safe practices while hunting, the Council urged that hunters load guns after arrival at the destination and then put on "safety" because in the first heavy underbrush a small twig may hook through the trigger and cause disaster. Further, the man ahead should always hold back the branches for the one following.
 Many an eye has been seriously injured by a snapping branch.
 If it becomes necessary for two hunters to proceed single file, the leader should carry his gun in the hollow of his arm with the muzzle pointing forward and down - not on his shoulder and pointing backward.

FALL BUSINESS OUTLOOK GOOD

By Roger W. Babson

There has been little net change in my Composite Business Chart in recent months.
 The decline that set in last fall leveled off this spring. Business volume has been moving side-wise ever since. My index shows that business is currently about 3% above normal, down 12 per cent from a year ago. Yet our national economy seems to be on firmer footing that it was earlier in the year.

Building activity has been especially strong and may establish a new one-year record in value of construction this year.
 Steel production is still down, but I look for an upswing in this index this fall as auto manufacturers start turning out their 1955 models. Railroad carloadings, which have been down 13% from 1953 levels, should also pick up. As steel output increases, more ore, coal and coke will be mined and moved over the rails to and from the blast furnaces.
 Livestock shipments should also show an increase due to the continued drought in some of the cattle areas. Rather than incur the cost of expensive artificial feeding, I expect that many cattlemen will ship their livestock to market. This in turn will mean more activity in the meat packing industry.

The drought is having a mixed effect on crops in general. The corn crop has been hit hard, running 15% lower than last year. Most of the other grains matured before the drought.
 Fruit and vegetables will be vulnerable if the drought continues. Unless the drought situation changes, I do not look for a major change in commodity prices. We have large stockpiles of corn, wheat and dairy products. Unemployment generally is comparatively low. The high point was reached last March. It has since declined somewhat and leveled off. There has been a considerable variation from one industry to another, of course. Some textile workers and coal miners have had it tough, while other lines have never been better. As indicated above, however, I look for a pickup in business this fall.

iversity of Illinois involves studies in genetics of corn, discovery of inherited pollen sterility, a Maize Genetics Center, a new type of sweet corn superior to present commercial varieties, and a method to separate and analyze proteins, viruses, and other particles in plants.

To perform their protective job for machinery, greases and lubricants must be kept refinery-clean. Many farm motors have small tolerances for sharp abrasives and solid contaminants. Clearance between shafts and bearings, and between pistons and cylinder walls, frequently are about two-thousandths of an inch.

The American Petroleum Institute recommends that farmers re-examine their storage and handling methods to make sure that no grit enters lubricants and greases at any stage. Unclean filling equipment is a source of trouble that farmers often overlook, the Institute warns.

Bremen Bows To Central High 13-7

The Bremen Braves lost a 13-7 thriller in the last 7 seconds of play to strong Central of Clinton Friday afternoon on the Bremen high school football field.

Coach Larry Callan's Braves, pre-game underdog to the Kanakake Valley powerhouse, displayed the strong defense which they lacked last season.

A costly Bremen fumble set the stage for Central's first touchdown in the second period of play.

The score remained 6-0 until the third period when Ron Galina, Bremen halfback, darted through right tackle for the Braves only touchdown. Frank Warszelak ran the ball over for the extra-point, and the Braves led 7-6.

Midway in the final period Central took possession of the ball on its own 20 yard line and crossed Bremen paydirt with the winning touchdown just before the game ended.

Bremen's next game will be played a Willington on September 24 at 7 p.m.

Starting line-up for the Bremen Braves: LG-R. Turcol, LT-R. Berens, LE-L. Christensen, RG-B. Calza, RT-B. Schramm, RE-J. Vanderwall, C-G. Nelson, HB-W. Linsey, HB-F. Warsjekek, QB-D. Banicki, FB-R. Wesolowski.

Score by quarters:
Central 0 6 0 7
Bremen 0 0 7 0

Orland Eagles Play Good Games at Plano

Coach Devine's Eagles of Carl Sandburg high school showed a big improvement last Friday night in the Plano-Sandburg football game at Plano even though they had to give in after providing the fans with a thrilling first half.

Kicking off for Carl Sandburg was Dave Andersen, and before the first quarter was over Bernie Partoll put the Sandburg Eagles out in front with a touchdown, the first varsity touchdown of the season.

The second quarter proved to be a thrilling one for the Sandburg fans as Partoll again scored with another touchdown and Dominic Digangi tackle a Plano man out ahead for a sure touchdown to keep the score 12-0 in Sandburg's favor. Besides, Dave Andersen, after intercepting a pass intended for a Plano player, tallied with a touchdown and the point on the kick. With four minutes to go before the half the Sandburg fans also had a chance to see some beautiful blocking. At the half Coach Devine's Eagles were leading 19-0.

In the third quarter, however, the opponent made an arousing comeback with two touchdowns and one point on the kick to bring the score to 19-13. During the end of the third quarter Dave Vance recovered the ball on the 40 yard line.

After another touchdown by Plano's Reapers and an unsuccessful conversion by running, the score was tie at 19-19. With only four minutes remaining the Reapers stole the ball and scored again, adding one more point with the kick. The final score was 26-19 in favor of Plano.

Tinley School News

Several rooms have planned field trips. Mr. DeYoung's room (100) went to the zoo at Brookfield and the nearby Trailside Museum. Miss Roger's room (400) went to the planetarium, aquarium and Field museum Sept. 22, and Miss Dowling's room (303) went to the zoo at Brookfield on Friday, Sept. 24.

Two newly decorated rooms are the delight of everyone and especially the children. The Art room (102) is eye appealing and the children are eager to add their creative work to its attractiveness. The library is done in shades of soft yellow, which has added much to the livability of the room. Tables and chairs have been arranged to accommodate the needs of the various classes as they meet there for reference work and reading. Many new and attractive books have been added to the host of good books already on the shelves. The library is fast becoming a favorite spot for the many book loving children we have in our school. It is under the capable supervision of Mrs. Sandidge.

Mr. Harris's room (401) won the P.T.A. award of one dollar for having the largest percentage of parents present at the September P.T.A. meeting. They will elect their class officers next week and thus get first hand experience in voting.

Mrs. Phillips's room (302) is very interested in poetry. They have learned "Trees" by Joyce Kilmer. Some of the children are making poetry notebooks. All of them have adopted this slogan for this year - "Let's become better readers."

Mrs. Jahn, the music teacher has been testing voices. In the very near future the boys and girls chorus will be organized.

Mrs. Triem, room (200) is conducting inventory tests to determine the pupils' ability in arithmetic. They are planning their years' work together.

All of us know Paul Buck and the heroic fight he is winning against polio. He is now at home and being tutored by Mrs. Sandidge, our special education teacher. Paul will carry regular six grade work, with the exception of reading and spelling.

The children are asked to contribute toys, games, and so forth for the fish pond. The fish pond is one of the popular spots for the youngsters on P.T.A. family fun night which will be held Oct. 15. They may bring the articles to school at any time before that date.

We are urging parents, again and again, to come to school and observe your child at work and become better acquainted with his teacher.

Mrs. A. Schellhase, Rm. 303

Famed Steeple To Be Rebuilt

The steeple of Old North Church, Boston, Mass., from which flashed the lantern signals which sent Paul Revere on his midnight ride in Revolutionary days, will be rebuilt "stronger and higher" by money contributed by U.S. manufacturers and others.

Hurricane winds of 100 m.p.h. toppled the historic tower August 31. A move to raise funds for rebuilding the steeple was initiated by Charles J. Hardy, Jr., board chairman of ACF industries, Inc. Earl Bunting, managing director of the National Association of Manufacturers, wired Mr. Hardy:

"Happy to serve on the committee to raise funds for restoration of the steeple. I am certain American industry will respond to an appeal for funds," blown down by a gale in 1804, had been restored 16 feet shorter. Recalling that the first steeple, than the original, the NAM official added:

"Since the very freedoms which Old North Church symbolizes are now in as great danger as they were on the fateful night of April of 1775, it seems to me that the steeple should be rebuilt to its original height. Let it stand as high as we can make it, so that it emerges above the darkness of doubt as a beacon for all men who have aspirations to be free.

"You may be sure that American industry welcomes the opportunity to restore this revered symbol of our never-ending fight for liberty, and that industry will build it so strong that never again will it be endangered."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

How understanding of the spiritual nature of reality brings enduring health, harmony, and progress - will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday, September 26.

The Lesson-Sermon entitled, "Reality" includes the following from I Peter (1:24,25): "For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away: But the word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following correlative passage will be read (335:27-29): (Reality is spiritual, harmonious, immutable, immortal, divine, eternal. Nothing unspecial can be real, harmonious, or eternal.)

The Golden Text is from I Corinthians (1:31): "As it is written. He that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord."

Do You Plan A Morning Routine?

for the headache you get from Aspirin is not a permanent cure rushing your children off to school.

Miss Marguerite Briggs, child development specialist at the University of Illinois, says planning a morning routine is the only cure.

She suggests setting up a morning schedule and letting it work for you rather than against you. You will find that it works for your children as well as for yourself.

In planning such a time-table be sure to allow enough time for getting up, dressing and breakfast. Once your plan is established, you will find that it becomes more efficient as time goes by.

Children should assume certain tasks, such as setting the table, bringing in the milk and making the beds. Knowing what their jobs are and when to do them will help your family get organized in the morning.

If you are relaxed, your children will feel it and get off to a better start. A child that is pushed out of the door to catch the school bus may be irritated and a bad day in school.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

Man's Eternal 'Why'

Lesson for October 3, 1954

DURING the next three months the Sunday school lessons in the "uniform" series dealt with in this column, are drawn from the wisdom and the worship of the ancient Hebrews, as found in those four not too well known books, Job, Proverbs, Psalms and Ecclesiastes. Parts of all but the first of these are known by heart everywhere; but much of them is unfamiliar territory. It would be a good idea during these three months to read these four books from start to finish. An average of two and a half chapters a day would do it. Why not?

More Questions Than Answers

It is a sort of well-worn saying of preachers that the Bible has the answers to life's questions. But there is one book in the Bible that has more questions than answers: the book of Job. It is one of the greatest books in the world, and it will always appeal to men everywhere, because it puts in a powerful way the very questions that the best people ask. Job himself was one of these "best people." He is called "blameless and upright, one who feared God and turned away from evil." God even speaks of him with some pride. But Job did not have all the answers, though he had most of the questions. His best friends thought, and no doubt he himself used to think, that suffering is always a sign that God is punishing the sufferer. This idea is still a common one. But Job felt there must be something wrong with it, for he felt a victim to disasters he would not have wished on his worst enemy. He lost his fortune (which was in cattle), his workmen, and his family, all within a few days, and finally he lost his health.

His friends thought they understood this. Suffering, they thought, was a sure sign of sin, so Job must have been a great sinner, in his intentions at least. But Job knew better. He knew he had not been a great sinner. So he raised the great "WHY?" that men before him and after him have raised. Why does God let good people suffer?

"But There Is No Justice"

It is not the mere painfulness of the world that weighs on us. It is the apparent unfairness of things. Pain and affliction that is "coming to" people does not bother our minds much, not even when it hits us ourselves. If you have a toothache and you know it is because you have indulged in too much candy and soft foods, you may cry about the toothache but you know, all the same, that you have nothing to cry about. You had it coming. If a cruel and murderous kidnapper dies in the gas chamber you do not feel greatly upset about it. You may even feel that no legal punishment can hurt him as much as he has hurt others. But if a good friend of yours dies of cancer, you do feel keen distress, because you cannot believe that your friend has earned such pain. And if you lift your eyes and look out over the world, especially if you know something about history, you will see so much frustration of the good, so much prospering of evil, down through the centuries, that you wonder sometimes how men can believe there is a God.

"I Seek . . . But I Cannot See"

If the woes of the world give us slight concern, selfish as we are by nature, we do wake up when trouble walks through our own doors. There must have been a good many people in trouble whom Job had known, but it took his own calamities to jolt him awake. We gather from his friends' remarks that he could speak cheerfully to those in distress, but when he was in trouble, he sang a sadder tune. Just when he needed most to talk with God, God did not seem to be anywhere near. The world is a puzzle to every man, but the good man, the believer in God, can sometimes be more puzzled by it than any one else. Because the believer feels that the world ought not to be like this, he is all the more distressed by what he sees. The better he is, the more he believes in God, the more he is distressed by it. It was Job who asked the terrible questions, not his weakly pious friends. Yet —Job did not "fold his hands and acquiesce."

Our Requirements For Pure Water

In the United States we take about 170 billion gallons of fresh water from rivers and streams every day for our various uses. Even this enormous quantity is only a very small part of the 4,300 billion gallons which is distributed daily over the surface of the land.

It would seem that we should never have to worry about a water shortage, however, of our yearly average of 33 inches of rainfall. 23 inches returns directly to the atmosphere or is used and given off by plants. Of the remaining 10 inches, a large part goes underground. Besides, our demands on water are very specific.

First, we must have a certain quantity of water at a certain place and time. There may be plenty of water in the country as a whole, but almost none in some places. A farmer's crops may die of drought and a city be forced to ration its water while people someplace else are fighting floods.

Second, we must have water of a certain quality for many of our uses. For all water is not exactly alike. None of it in nature is absolutely pure. It contains dissolved gases, minerals, and other substances. It may also contain floating or suspended particles.

Some of these dissolved and floating substances are very helpful. For example, fish and other water life cannot live without the oxygen which is dissolved in water. Some "foreign" substances are helpful in some ways and harmful in others. Some actually destroy our water supply by making it unfit for our use.

Strange to say, we ourselves are to blame for most of these harmful substances in water. And the larger and more complex our civilization becomes, the more we pollute our waterways. Cities and industries, mainstays of our modern world, contribute most of this harmful pollution.

You can easily make a home post treatment plant from an 8 foot section of steel culvert with a bottom welded on, or from 2 1/2 steel oil drums welded together.

An acre of rye seeded this fall may save as much as half a ton of hay in a cattle wintering program.
